Importance of Tagging Content

A tag is a keyword or term associated with a post. It links this post to other posts with related information. Tags give you flexibility in structuring your Web site and help you map information. They also make the information in your Web site more accessible to users.

The tags are listed alphabetically, but their sizes represent how frequently they're used. "Futures" and "Landpower" are the largest two because they're used most frequently.

LandPower Future COM IS for Unclass Only

(N

No For Official Use Only (FOUO), Operations Security (OPSEC) or Personally Identifiable Information (PII) shall be posted on this site.

DO NOT Post For Official Use Only (FOUO) on this site.

- FOUO is a document designation, not a classification. This is used by DOD and other Federal agencies to identify information that is not appropriate for public release
- The posting of FOUO to websites is restricted to web servers that have access controls restricted to user-based PKI certificates
- The emailing of FOUO documents outside of DOD networks require encrypted communications, such as digital signatures and encryption
- FOUO data must be encrypted at all times to protect the information and restrict its access

DO NOT Post Personally Identifiable Information (PII) on this site.

PII refers to information that can be used to distinguish or trace someone's identity. Information such as SSN, age, phone numbers, passport numbers, birthday, or spouse's name

- Mandates to protect PII come from Federal Law (as defined in Privacy Act of 1974) and DOD guidance (OMB Circular A-130)
- PII data must be encrypted at all times (when placed on a file or web server) and in transit (when emailing)
- PII data lost or stolen is considered a security breach
- It is every user's responsibility to properly store, protect and safeguard PII data, but ultimately, Community Owners are responsible for all information hosted on the Community

DO NOT Post Operational Security (OPSEC) on this site.

Operational Security (OPSEC)

- While some unclassified data, in and of itself, does not pose an issue, the aggregate of several pieces of data can cause an OPSEC issue
- OPSEC denies the adversary the information needed to correctly assess friendly capabilities and intentions
- OPSEC is concerned with identifying, controlling, and protecting unclassified evidence that is associated with general military operations and activities. OPSEC and security programs must be closely coordinated to ensure that the appropriate aspects of military operations are protected
- OPSEC can be viewed like a puzzle: one piece of data on a document, in combination with another piece of data from another document can be combined to create an OPSEC picture by revealing the whole puzzle

and PII.

For Official Use Only (FOUO), Operations Security (OPSEC) or Personally Identifiable Information (PII) shall NOT be posted on this site.

This site is a forum for the exchange of ideas in the area of landpower futures. It provides an opportunity for a world-wide community of interest to share knowledge and explore issues that may inform the development of landpower 10+ years from now.

Facilitated by the U.S. Army War College's (USAWC) Futures Community of Interest (FCoI), this forum will seek to:

- Engage in the development and examination of ideas relevant to future landpower (2025+);
- Provide a forum for collaboration in substantive projects to address future landpower issues and questions.
- Develop and share awareness about ongoing or upcoming events and projects in the field of future landpower;

China Futures Wargame Report - U.S. Army War College

The US Army War College's Center for Strategic Leadership and Development (CSLD) conducted China Futures, an unclassified Strategic Wargame to develop insights regarding potential collegial and competing interests between the United States and the Peoples Republic of China (PRC) to inform US national security decision-maker's long-term planning efforts. The wargame focused on identifying interests in Africa and Latin America, and sought to relate them to the Asia-Pacific region and other regions of the world.

Title ARCIC Capabilities Integration Enterprise Forum (CIEF)

Start Time 7/29/2015 9:00 AM

End Time 7/29/2015 12:00 PM

Location VTC in Collins Hall

Description The next ARCIC Capabilities Integration Enterprise Forum (CIEF) will be 29 July 15, 0900-1200
We will setup a VTC in Collins Hall if you would like to participate (I will be there as the "official" USAWC rep).
Note the 5 AWFCs that will be covered. Several are very appropriate for our interest at the USAWC.

Please Sam White know if you or any of your colleagues are going to attend so that we can ensure we have space in the VTC facility.

Purpose of the Landpower Futures Community of Interest (COI)

Purpose of Landpower Futures COI

This site is a forum for the exchange of ideas in the area of landpower futures. It provides an opportunity for a world-wide community of interest to share knowledge and explore issues that may inform the development of landpower 10+ years from now.

Facilitated by the U.S. Army War College's (USAWC) Landpower Futures Community of Interest, this forum will seek to:

- Engage in the development and examination of ideas relevant to future landpower (2025+)
- Provide a forum for collaboration in substantive projects to address future landpower issues and questions.
- Develop and share awareness about ongoing or upcoming events and projects in the field of future landpower

STEPS TO Contribute to Landpower Futures COI:

1. Get an APAN account
2. Request Membership in the Landpower Futures Community of Interest \(COI\) then click the "Request Membership" link.

Member of the U.S. Army War College's strategic futures community of interest (Col) and faculty member in the U.S. Army War College's Futures Seminar – an elective course which allows students to explore and recommend future capabilities and force structure for the U.S. Army beyond 2025. Loosely modeled on a series of "Army After Next" exercises conducted by U.S. Army War College students in the late 1990s, the Futures Seminar students play a role in the Chief of Staff of the Army's Deep Future Wargame, Unified Quest.

China Futures Wargame Report - U.S. Army War College The US Army War College's Center for Strategic Leadership and Development (CSLD) conducted China Futures , an unclassified Strategic Wargame to develop insights regarding potential collegial and competing interests between the United States and the Peoples Republic of China (PRC) to inform US national security decision-maker's long-term planning efforts. The wargame focused on identifying interests in Africa and Latin America, and sought to relate them to the Asia-Pacific region and other...

APAN Connect (Adobe Connect)

- Adobe Connect offers a media-rich method of collaboration and interaction that can supplement or supplant traditional face-to-face forms of communication, like meetings and classroom time. The video and audio features give participants access to the visual and audible cues that are so crucial to successful collaboration. Teams can gather and work together from distant geographic locations, presenters can reach audiences in other cities or states, and instructors can provide course material to students anywhere. In any meeting, meeting hosts can record meetings and presentations for any participants to review at a later time.

The screenshot displays the APAN Connect web interface. On the left, a navigation menu includes 'Home', 'Announcements', and 'Blog'. Below these is a section titled 'ADDITIONAL SERVICES' which contains two items: 'APAN Connect (Adobe Connect) Attend a Virtual meeting. Contact group owners to Host' and 'Chat - Participate in real time chat for this community'. A red box highlights the 'APAN Connect' link, and a red arrow points from it to a text box. The text box contains the following text: 'To launch APAN's version of Adobe Connect, click the icon or the APAN Connect link on the home page under Additional Services. When you click the link, you will be taken to a page that says the meeting has not yet started. ONLY A OWNER...'. To the right of the text box is a dark grey header with the text 'e-co Adobe Connect'. Below this header is a section titled 'Landpower Futures Community of Interest' with the text: 'The meeting has not yet started. You will be able to access the meeting once the host arrives. Please wait.'

The screenshot displays the Adobe Connect interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with icons for Meeting, Layouts, Pods, and Audio. Below this is a 'Share - Whiteboard' section with a toolbar containing icons for drawing, erasing, and text. The main whiteboard area shows a title 'Landpower Futures Community of Interest White board' highlighted with a red box. To the right, there's a video feed showing a man named Robert Hoss. Below the video feed is an 'Attendees (2)' list. In this list, 'Hosts (1)' shows 'Robert Hoss' with a host icon, and 'Participants (1)' shows 'Rob Hoss' with a participant icon. Both entries in the attendee list are highlighted with red boxes. On the far right, there's a sidebar with buttons for 'Help', 'Sharing', 'Discussion', and 'Collabor...'. At the bottom, there's a 'Chat (Everyone)' section.

How to Add Colleagues

- With your personal APAN profile you may make Colleague connections with other APAN users. When you are Colleagues with another APAN user, you will see their APAN Activity (document posts, forum posts, comments, etc.) on your APAN activity feed. You will also be able to send each other Conversation messages.
- Adding colleagues is a similar concept like "friending" someone

When your colleague logs on to APAN, they will see a number next to their Notifications tab. If they click on the notifications tab, they will see "Colleague Requests". When they click "Colleague Requests", they will be taken to the Colleagues Accept / Reject Page.

The screenshot displays the APAN user interface. At the top, a navigation bar includes a language selector set to 'English', a 'Favorites' dropdown, a 'Notifications' tab with a red box and a count of '1', a 'Settings' link, a user profile for 'Rob Hoss', and a 'Sign out' link. A dropdown menu for 'Notifications' is open, showing 'Colleague Requests [1]' (highlighted with a red box) and 'Conversations [0]'. A red dashed arrow points from this menu item to the 'Accept' button on a lower page. Below the navigation bar, the main content area is titled 'COLLEAGUES' and features three tabs: 'Colleagues', 'Requests to Review (1)' (active), and 'Your Requests'. Under the 'Requests to Review' tab, a request from 'Robert Hoss' is shown with a profile picture and the text 'Request to be your colleague.'. To the right of the request are 'Reject' and 'Accept' buttons, with the 'Accept' button highlighted by a red box. A second red dashed arrow points from the 'Accept' button to a yellow confirmation banner at the bottom of the page that reads 'You are now colleagues with Robert Hoss.'

Conversations

- Conversations allow you to exchange private messages with your colleagues on APAN. Conversation messages are similar to email. You can send a message to your colleague, they will be notified of the message, and can read it by viewing their conversation inbox. A conversation is different from a chat because Conversation messages are sent one at a time whereas a chat is a real-time dialog between two online
